

SCHOLARS
STRATEGY NETWORK

Election Experts Available: Voting Patterns and Rights

NOVEMBER 5, 2018

For journalists looking for expert sources to comment on voting rights and patterns in regards to the midterm elections, these scholars are available to comment:

Jan Leighley, American University

leighley@american.edu

Expert on voter turnout, polling and forecasts, and midterms vs. presidential electoral politics.

Jennifer McCoy, Georgia State University

jmccoy@gsu.edu

@jlynmccoy

Expert on political polarization, elections and voting rights. Can comment on Georgia elections.

Chapman Rackaway, University of West Georgia

crackawa@westga.edu

@DocPolitics

Expert on campaign strategy, partisanship in voting, electioneering, campaign finance, and messaging. Can comment on elections in Kansas and Georgia.

Casey Klofstad, University of Miami

klofstad@gmail.com

@klofstad

Expert on societal and biological influence on political participation and immigrant political behavior.

Ciara Torres-Spelliscy, Stetson University College of Law

ctorress@law.stetson.edu

@profciara

Expert on election law and Constitutional law. Can comment on money in politics, voting rights and elections both nationally and in Florida, especially Amendment 4.