

SCHOLARS
STRATEGY NETWORK

Trump May Wish Guatemala were a Safe Place for Asylum Applicants to Wait, But It's Not

M. Gabriela Torres, Wheaton College

Cecilia Menjivar, University of California-Los Angeles

Last week, a planned visit of Guatemalan President Jimmy Morales to the White House was canceled after the Guatemalan Constitutional Court threw up a roadblock to the deal the two presidents planned to discuss. President Trump was seeking a “safe third country” agreement, which would have required asylum seekers fleeing other Central American countries to make their applications in Guatemala instead of at the U.S. border.