

3 Experts Available for Timely Analysis on SCOTUS LGBTQ Rights Case

DECEMBER 5, 2022

Mandana Mohsenzadegan

Today the Supreme Court is hearing 303 Creative LLC v. Elenis, a case concerning a web designer who objected to working with same-sex couples on their weddings and claims that being required to do so would have violated her right to free speech.

For reporters looking for an expert on this case and its impact on LGBTQ rights, the following university-based experts are available to provide commentary and analysis.

ELI COSTON

Virginia Commonwealth University

Coston's research examines how the intersections of race, class, and gender create differing experiences of marginalization and oppression for people who are LGBTQ.

GILBERT GONZALES

Vanderbilt University School of Medicine

Gonzales studies state policies and initiatives to improve health and access to health care for vulnerable families and children. He is the author of a brief titled How Fighting Discrimination Can Enhance Well-Being for Aging Gay, Lesbian, Bisexual, and Transgender Americans.

BARBARA J. RISMAN

University of Illinois at Chicago

Risman's teaching and research focuses on the changing politics and policies around gender and sexual inequality. Her areas of expertise include work and family policies, changing family roles, the diversity of family structure and the Millennial generation. Her recent book Where the Millennials Will Take Us includes analysis of attitudes towards gender equality.
