1 Expert Available for Timely Analysis on South Carolina Abortion Ban

AUGUST 23, 2023

Mandana Mohsenzadegan

Today the South Carolina Supreme Court upheld the state's new near-total ban on abortion by a 4-1 vote.

For reporters covering the implications of this decision, the following university-based expert is available to provide commentary and analysis.

KATHLEEN BROUSSARD

University of South Carolina-Columbia

Broussard's research focuses on the individual, social, and structural determinants of health-seeking behaviors. She explores the way healthcare and medical technologies shape the meaning and experience of pregnancy, abortion, and childbearing and conversely, how people's identities and beliefs influence their engagement with the formal healthcare system.
