

4 Experts Available for Timely Analysis on SCOTUS Reforms

JULY 30, 2024

Dominik Doemer

This week, President Biden called for reforms to the Supreme Court and a new constitutional amendment on presidential immunity, proposals that were soon backed by Vice President Harris. For reporters covering these developments, the following experts are available to provide commentary and analysis:

MICHAEL EVANS

Georgia State University

Evan's research examines American constitutionalism, U.S. Supreme Court decision making, and public opinion about the Supreme Court.

THOMAS M. KECK

Syracuse University

Keck's research focuses on freedom of expression, constitutional courts, democratic backsliding, and the use of legal strategies by movements for social change, on both the left and the right. He is the author of Judicial Politics in Polarized Times and The Most Activist Supreme Court in History.

SALLY KENNEY

Tulane University of Louisiana

Kenney's research interests include women and leadership, gender and judging, judicial selection, feminist social movements, and women and electoral politics and she is author of the book Gender and Justice: Why Women in the Judiciary Really Matter.

CIARA TORRES-SPELLISCY

Stetson University

Torres-Spelliscy's work focuses primarily on the issue of money in politics, but also works on judicial selection, strengthening election laws, as well as improving corporate governance.

She is author of the book Corporatocracy: How to Protect Democracy from Dark Money and Corrupt Politicians.
